Event Description:

On February 12, 2013 New Music at UCSD will bring the New York-based virtuoso Yuki Numata to campus for a series of cultural events for the broader student community. In addition to a concert of music by emerging and established composers from around the world, this residency offers unique insight into the interface of early classical composers (e.g., Johann Sebastian Bach [1685-1750]) and contemporary violin performance. Open workshops, as well as pre- and post-concert discussion give UCSD students a window on the state of modern classical music both at home and abroad. Further, audience members will be exposed to the technical demands and concerns associated with bringing rich and diverse arts programming to life, as showcased by our guest performer. All events are free with UCSD student ID.

Other Considerations / Additional Comments

As with previous events, Red Light New Music, Wet Ink, Formalist Quartet, Trio Kobayashi, and Matteo Cesari / Lucy Shelton, our goal as an organization is to enrich the cultural offerings of UCSD, and to broaden horizons of the student community. Turnout for our events has been consistently high, averaging 100-200 per concert, from a wide variety of departments (roughly an even split of grad/undergrad). What's more, the response from those in attendance has been markedly enthusiastic. We have similar expectations for this series, and hope to provide an equally rewarding experience, at no charge, to all who are interested.
